

× The Flavor Factory

THERABREATH FLAVOR PLAYBOOK NOV 9, 2026 · 10:00 AM · DARWIN

THE FUTURE OF FRESH.

A working session to build TheraBreath's flavor playbook: trends, territories, concepts and a pipeline.

PRESENTED BY The Flavor Factory • Church & Dwight HQ, Ewing, NJ

× The Flavor Factory

● WELCOME

WHO WE ARE

Hello from Norco.

We're The Flavor Factory, a family flavor house from Norco, California. We spend our days at the bench getting flavor to behave in whatever base it has to live in. For TheraBreath, that base runs on oxygen.

TO ADD: TEAM PHOTO, PLUS THE NAMES AND ROLES OF WHO'S HERE TODAY

Family

Run by a family, in Norco, California.

Bench-first

Every flavor built for the base it goes into.

Oxygen-ready

Six new flavors made for sodium chlorite.

THE OBJECTIVE FOR TODAY

Together, define a flavor playbook.

01

Trends

Identify the flavor, sensory and consumer trends shaping the future of oral care.

WE LEAVE WITH

The trends worth acting on

02

Territories

Explore new flavor territories and sensory experiences that strengthen TheraBreath's edge.

WE LEAVE WITH

The territories to prioritize

03

Concepts

Generate concepts that create new usage occasions, reach new consumers and expand the portfolio.

WE LEAVE WITH

Concepts with a clear who and when 04

Pipeline

Build a pipeline of platforms, flavor directions and white space for growth across the franchise.

WE LEAVE WITH

A pipeline from near-term to long-term

- For near-term product innovation and long-term franchise growth.

THE MORNING

10:00 to noon, then lunch.

10:00-10:10

Welcome

Introductions and the goal

10:10-10:35

Trends

What's shaping oral care

● OBJECTIVE 01

10:35-10:55

Territories

Where fresh could go

● OBJECTIVE 02

10:55-11:10

Taste

A quick blind taste

● OBJECTIVE 02

11:10-11:35

Create

New occasions, new consumers

● OBJECTIVE 03

11:35-12:00

Playbook

Prioritize and assign

● OBJECTIVE 04

12:00

Lunch

Thank you, Church & Dwight.

OBJECTIVE 01 • TRENDS

01 WHAT'S SHAPING ORAL CARE?

Twelve trends across three lenses: what people want to taste, what they want to feel, and how they use oral care.

From our bench and the categories we make flavors for: beverage, nutraceutical, personal care and oral care. Maturity is our read.

01 TRENDS • THE MAP

Twelve trends, three lenses.

● Flavor What people want to taste

- | | | | |
|------------------------|------------|------------------------|----------|
| 1 The global pantry | MAINSTREAM | 2 Swicy and contrast | RISING |
| 3 Botanical and floral | RISING | 4 Indulgent, but clean | EMERGING |

■ Sensory What people want to feel

- | | | | |
|-----------------------|------------|---------------------------|------------|
| 5 Feel it working | MAINSTREAM | 6 Intensity without burn | MAINSTREAM |
| 7 Flavors that evolve | RISING | 8 Mouthfeel and hydration | EMERGING |

▲ Consumer How and why people use it

- | | | | |
|--------------------------|--------|----------------------------------|----------|
| 9 Oral care as self-care | RISING | 10 Rituals by time of day | RISING |
| 11 Discovery on social | RISING | 12 Sober-curious and clean label | EMERGING |

What people want to taste.

Maturity is our read, from the bench and the categories we make flavors for.

FLAVOR

MAINSTREAM

The global pantry

Cardamom, yuzu, matcha, ube and tamarind have moved from specialty shops to coffee menus and snack aisles.

WHERE WE SEE IT

Chain café seasonal menus · Snack and candy line extensions · Global grocery aisles in mainstream stores

FOR THERABREATH

People already know these flavors from what they drink. A rinse can borrow that familiarity.

ASK THE ROOM

Which global flavor would feel most natural on the TheraBreath shelf?

FLAVOR

RISING

Swicy and contrast

Sweet with heat, sour with salt: chamoy, hot honey, chili-lime and sour candy are everywhere.

WHERE WE SEE IT

Hot honey on menus · Chamoy and chili-lime snacks · Sour candy trends on social

FOR THERABREATH

Contrast makes a flavor memorable. The job is contrast without burn.

ASK THE ROOM

How far could TheraBreath push contrast and still feel gentle?

FLAVOR

RISING

Botanical and floral

Rose, hibiscus, elderflower and lavender now show up in drinks, desserts and mocktails.

WHERE WE SEE IT

Floral mocktails and sodas · Rose and hibiscus in café drinks · Botanical skincare scents

FOR THERABREATH

Florals signal self-care and a small luxury, as long as they finish clean.

ASK THE ROOM

Is floral a premium tier for TheraBreath, or a new everyday?

FLAVOR

EMERGING

Indulgent, but clean

Nutty, creamy and dessert-inspired flavors, led by pistachio, are crossing into better-for-you products.

WHERE WE SEE IT

Viral pistachio desserts · Protein and wellness drinks in dessert flavors · Creamy coconut everything

FOR THERABREATH

A little indulgence can make a daily routine feel like a treat, without sugar.

ASK THE ROOM

Could indulgence help TheraBreath win the evening routine?

What people want to feel.

Maturity is our read, from the bench and the categories we make flavors for.

■ SENSORY ■ MAINSTREAM

Feel it working

Cooling, tingling and fizz have become shorthand for “it’s working”, from skincare to energy drinks.

WHERE WE SEE IT

Cooling skincare and lip care · “You can feel it” claims · Tingling and fizzing formats

FOR THERABREATH

Sensation is proof of efficacy, and TheraBreath already sells a feeling of clean.

ASK THE ROOM

What should TheraBreath’s signature sensation be?

■ SENSORY ■ MAINSTREAM

Intensity without burn

People want strong and gentle at the same time: alcohol-free, sensitive-friendly, but still powerful.

WHERE WE SEE IT

Alcohol-free everything · Sensitive-skin and sensitive-teeth lines · “Gentle but effective” claims

FOR THERABREATH

This is TheraBreath’s home turf. New flavors should make it more obvious, not less.

ASK THE ROOM

How do we show intensity while protecting the no-burn promise?

■ SENSORY ■ RISING

Flavors that evolve

Layered, multi-stage experiences borrowed from fragrance and mixology: an opening, a heart and a finish.

WHERE WE SEE IT

Fragrance-style notes in drinks · Multi-stage candy and gum · Tasting-menu language in everyday products

FOR THERABREATH

A rinse lasts 30 to 60 seconds. That’s enough time to tell a story.

ASK THE ROOM

Should a TheraBreath rinse have a beginning, middle and end?

■ SENSORY ■ EMERGING

Mouthfeel and hydration

Slick, hydrating and “glass-smooth” mouthfeel matters, especially for dry mouth and older consumers.

WHERE WE SEE IT

Hydration claims across categories · Dry-mouth awareness · Texture-first launches in beverages

FOR THERABREATH

A flavor that feels soothing and hydrating could reach dry-mouth and sensitive users.

ASK THE ROOM

Is there a TheraBreath line built around comfort, not just freshness?

01 TRENDS • CONSUMER LENS

How and why people use it.

Maturity is our read, from the bench and the categories we make flavors for.

▲ CONSUMER ● RISING

Oral care as self-care

Oral care is moving onto the beauty shelf: designed packaging, rituals and routines people post about.

WHERE WE SEE IT

Bathroom “shelfies” · Beauty retailers carrying oral care · Design-led oral care brands

FOR THERABREATH

Flavor is the easiest way to make a rinse feel like part of a self-care routine.

ASK THE ROOM

Where should TheraBreath show up in a self-care routine?

▲ CONSUMER ● RISING

Rituals by time of day

Morning and night versions of everything: energizing AM, calming PM, and moments in between.

WHERE WE SEE IT

AM/PM skincare and supplements · Sleep and wind-down products · After-coffee and after-meal occasions

FOR THERABREATH

Different moments call for different flavors. A pair can double the reasons to reach for the bottle.

ASK THE ROOM

Which moment of the day is TheraBreath missing?

▲ CONSUMER ● RISING

Discovery on social

Flavors go viral on social before they reach the shelf, and limited drops create urgency.

WHERE WE SEE IT

Viral flavor moments · Limited-edition drops · Creator-led taste tests

FOR THERABREATH

A limited-edition flavor could test demand fast and give people something to talk about.

ASK THE ROOM

Would a limited-edition drop fit TheraBreath?

▲ CONSUMER ● EMERGING

Sober-curious and clean label

Zero-proof drinks, no dyes and short ingredient lists: sophistication without alcohol.

WHERE WE SEE IT

Zero-proof bars and brands · Dye-free reformulations · Clean-label claims

FOR THERABREATH

TheraBreath is already alcohol-free. Grown-up flavors make that feel premium, not medicinal.

ASK THE ROOM

How premium could an alcohol-free rinse feel?

2027 to 2030: where it's heading.

2027

Choose your intensity

Mild, regular and extra versions of the same flavor, so people pick their level.

FOR THERABREATH

One flavor, three strengths: a simple way to widen the range.

2027

Mood flavors

Flavors positioned around a feeling: calm, focus, energy.

FOR THERABREATH

Pairs naturally with morning and night rituals.

2028

Comfort for an older mouth

An aging population means more dry mouth and sensitivity, and more demand for soothing flavor.

FOR THERABREATH

A natural bridge to TheraBreath's dry-mouth products.

2028

Microbiome-friendly

Balance, not just kill: consumers learn the language of the oral microbiome.

FOR THERABREATH

Flavor can signal gentle and balanced as much as strong.

2029

Climate and supply

Vanilla, citrus and mint crops face climate pressure. Stable, well-sourced flavor systems become an advantage.

FOR THERABREATH

Oxidation-stable formulas also tend to be supply-resilient ones.

2030

Flavor made for one

Personal flavor profiles, sampling kits and small-batch drops.

FOR THERABREATH

Low minimums make small, fast flavor tests possible.

01 LET'S DISCUSS

Which trends matter most for TheraBreath?

● 10 MINUTES

● WHOLE ROOM

01 Which of the twelve do you already see in your data or your own life?

02 Which one is TheraBreath best placed to lead, not follow?

03 What did we miss? What would you add to the radar?

01 TRENDS • DOT VOTE

Three dots each. Where do they go?

● 1

The global pantry

Flavor • Mainstream

● 2

Swicy and contrast

Flavor • Rising

● 3

Botanical and floral

Flavor • Rising

● 4

Indulgent, but clean

Flavor • Emerging

■ 5

Feel it working

Sensory • Mainstream

■ 6

Intensity without burn

Sensory • Mainstream

■ 7

Flavors that evolve

Sensory • Rising

■ 8

Mouthfeel and hydration

Sensory • Emerging

▲ 9

Oral care as self-care

Consumer • Rising

▲ 10

Rituals by time of day

Consumer • Rising

▲ 11

Discovery on social

Consumer • Rising

▲ 12

Sober-curious and clean label

Consumer • Emerging

OBJECTIVE 02 • TERRITORIES

02

WHERE COULD FRESH GO?

New flavor territories and sensory experiences that strengthen TheraBreath's edge, starting from the one rule the base sets.

Six new flavor worlds and nine wildcards from around the world, all designed for sodium chlorite.

Built to survive oxygen.

● HOLDS UP IN SODIUM CHLORITE

Every mint

Menthol

Cardamom

1,8-Cineole

Frost

WS-3 · WS-23

Coconut γ -NonalactoneApple

Hexyl acetate

Rosewater

Phenylethyl alcohol

Sea air

Calone

● FADES OR TURNS

~~Lemon, lime~~

Fades, then turns

~~Cinnamon~~

Loses its bite

~~Vanilla~~

Goes flat

~~Clove~~

Reacts fast

~~Cucumber, melon~~

Disappears

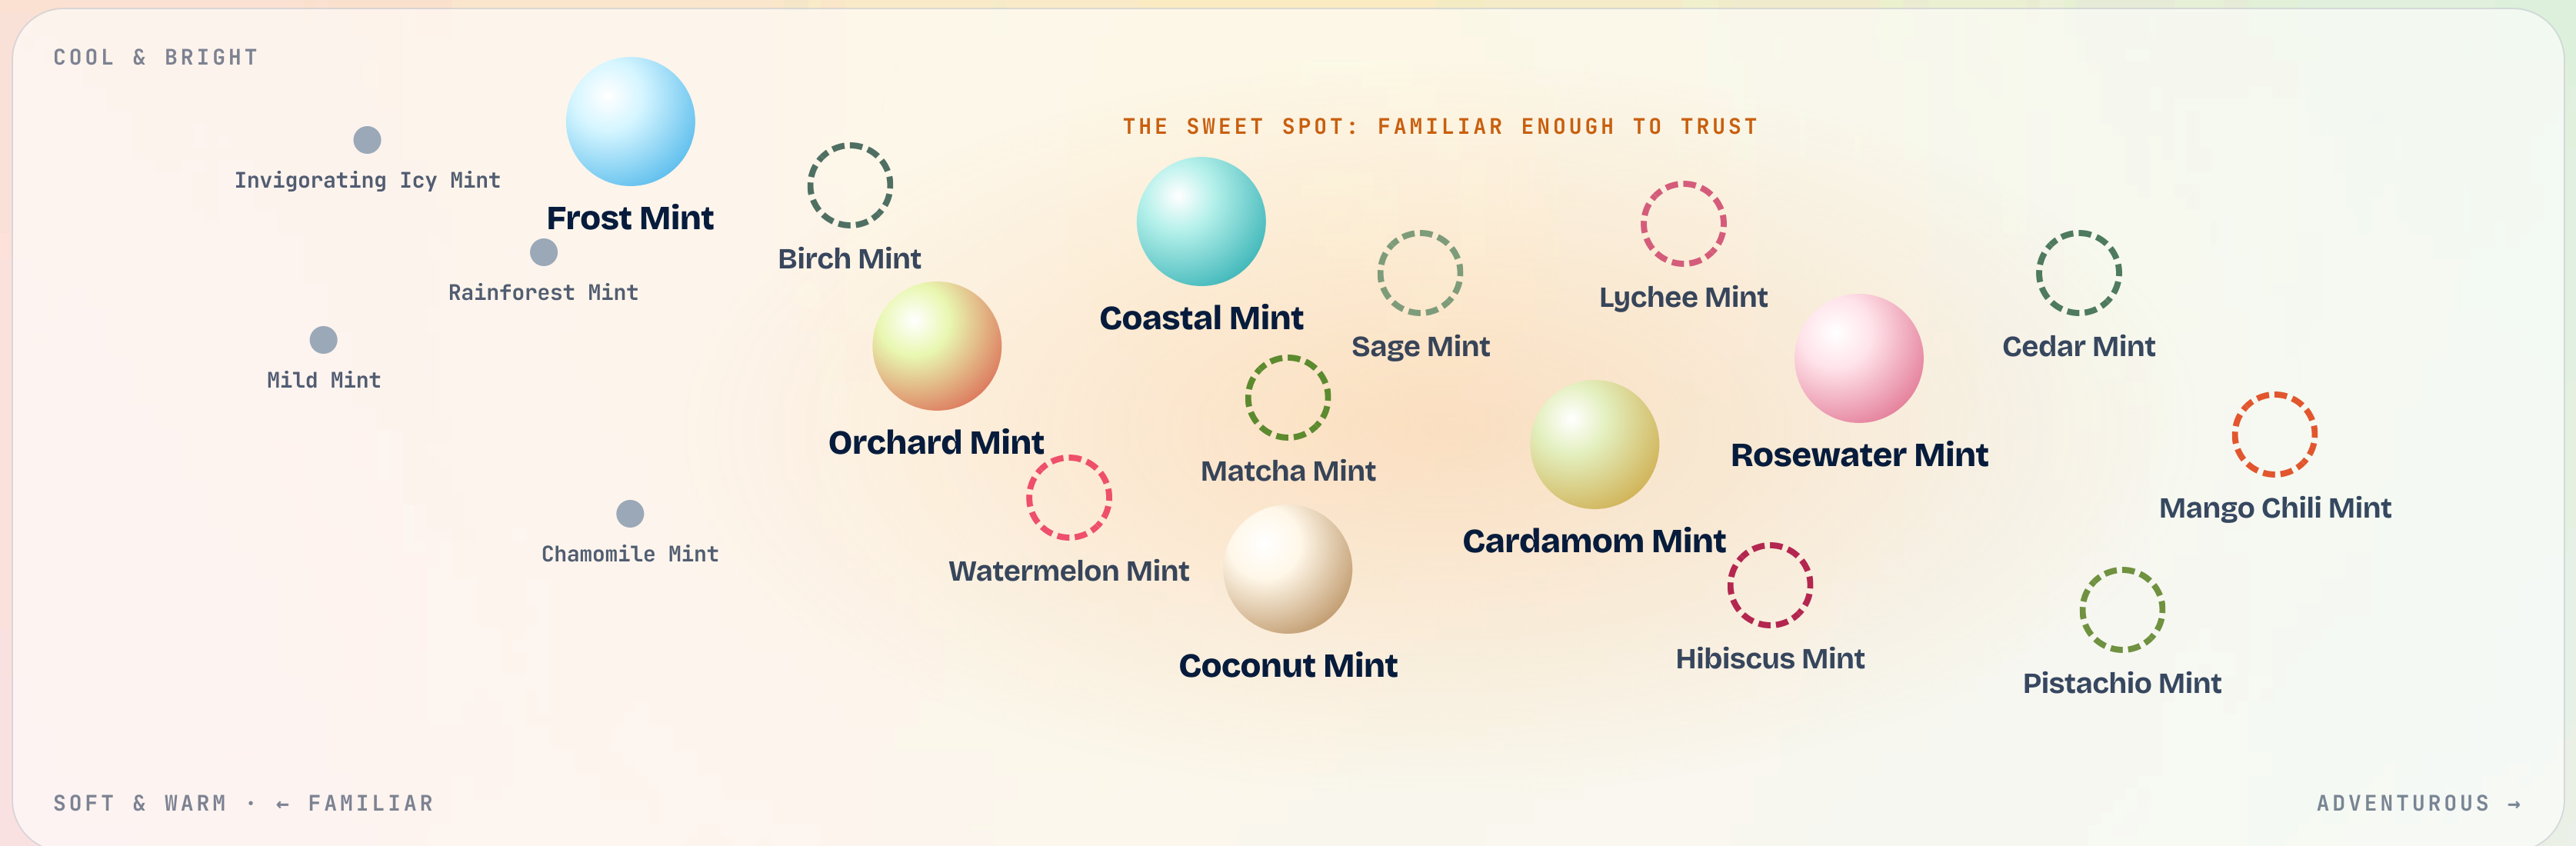

That's why mint has owned the shelf. It's also a moat: flavors that survive this base are hard to copy.

Our bench read. Every flavor goes into accelerated stability in the real base before anyone commits to it.

02 TERRITORIES • THE WHITE SPACE

Today's shelf, and the white space.

Today's flavors cluster in the cool, familiar corner. Positions are our read.

Six new worlds, named like TheraBreath.

Frost Mint

Cold that builds, then stays.

For people who want intensity without the burn ·
wake-up

Coastal Mint

Clean, like the air off the water.

For mint-fatigued adults who still want clean ·
midday reset

Cardamom Mint

The after-dinner freshener, reimagined.

For flavor-curious adults with global palates ·
after a meal

Coconut Mint

Soft, smooth and a little tropical.

For clean-label fans of coconut oil pulling · evening routine

Rosewater Mint

A little luxury in the morning routine.

For beauty shoppers who treat oral care as self-care ·
before going out

Orchard Mint

Crisp, bright and easy to love.

For families and first-time rinse users · after lunch

Around the world in nine rinses.

Each from a real trend and a real culture, each designed for sodium chlorite.

MEDITERRANEAN

Sage Mint

Herbal wellness and garden botanicals

EASY

EVERYWHERE, EVERY SUMMER

Watermelon Mint

Juicy fruit for younger palates

MEDIUM

PACIFIC NORTHWEST • JAPAN

Cedar Mint

Forest bathing and woody wellness

MEDIUM

UJI, JAPAN

Matcha Mint

The matcha boom, from café lattes to skincare

MEDIUM

SENEGAL • MEXICO • THE CARIBBEAN

Hibiscus Mint

Floral-tart drinks: bissap, agua de jamaica, sorrel, mocktails

MEDIUM

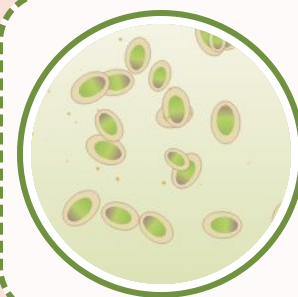

GUANGDONG • SOUTHEAST ASIA

Lychee Mint

Boba, lychee sodas and Asian fruit going mainstream

MEDIUM

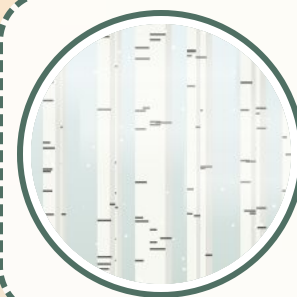

MIDDLE EAST • SICILY

Pistachio Mint

Viral pistachio desserts and the Dubai-chocolate craze

STRETCH

FINLAND • SWEDEN

Birch Mint

Sauna, cold plunge and Nordic wellness

EASY

MEXICO

Mango Chili Mint

Swicy: sweet meets heat, from chamoy to hot honey

STRETCH

Four platforms that could carry a line.

01

New Fresh

Fresh that tastes like more than peppermint.

● COASTAL MINT

● COCONUT MINT

● ORCHARD MINT

● WATERMELON MINT

● MATCHA MINT

● LYCHEE MINT

02

Sensory Proof

Freshness you can feel happening, without the burn.

● FROST MINT

● BIRCH MINT

● MANGO CHILI MINT

03

Ritual by Time

A different kind of fresh for each moment of the day.

04

Elevated Escape

A small daily luxury, borrowed from spa, tea and fragrance.

● CARDAMOM MINT

● ROSEWATER MINT

● SAGE MINT

● CEDAR MINT

● HIBISCUS MINT

● PISTACHIO MINT

TASTE BREAK • 15 MINUTES

QUICK SIP, FIRST REACTION.

Seven coded cups: the six new worlds and today's TheraBreath. One word and a score for each. Names after.

261

318

437

506

742

893

150

TODAY

02 LET'S DISCUSS

Which territories should TheraBreath own?

● 10 MINUTES

● WHOLE ROOM

01

Which two platforms feel most like TheraBreath's future?

02

Which flavor surprised you in the tasting, good or bad?

03

Which wildcard would you fight for, and why?

OBJECTIVE 03 • CONCEPTS

03

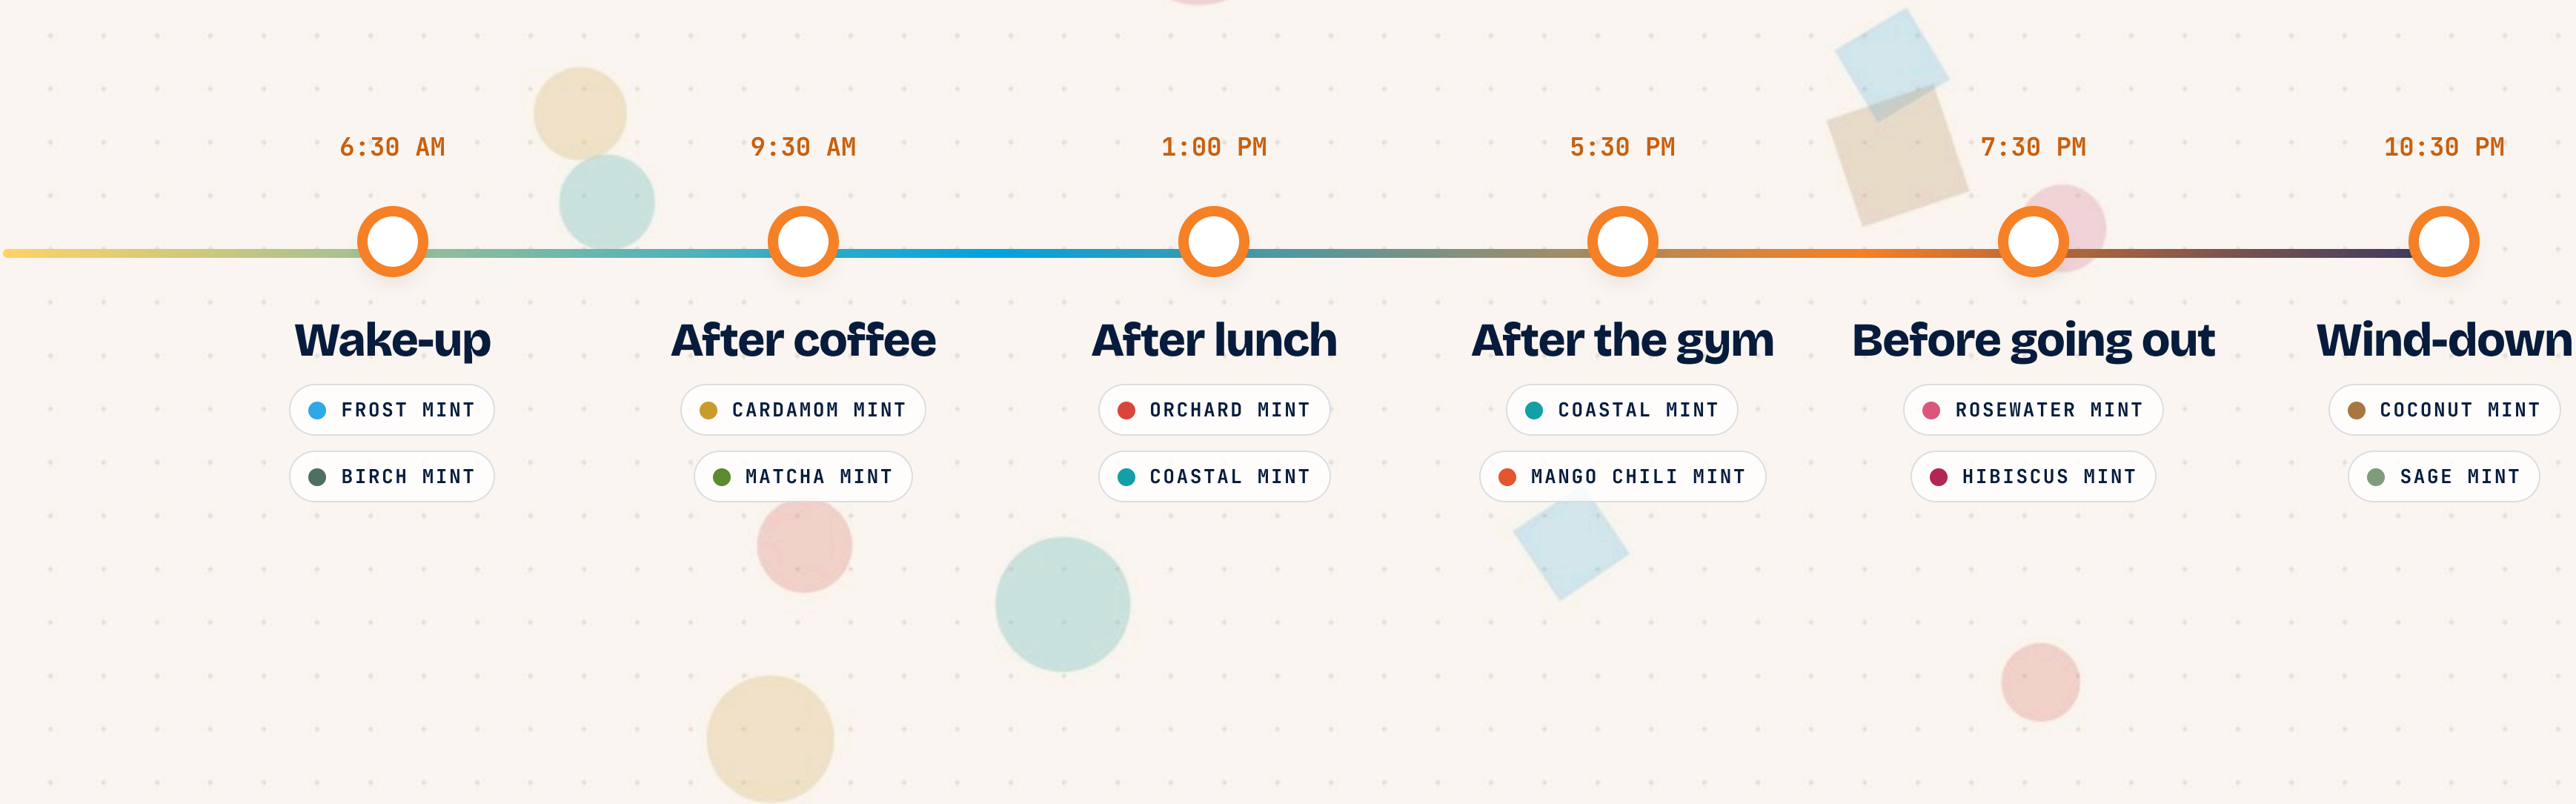

NEW MOMENTS, NEW PEOPLE.

Concepts that create new usage occasions, reach new consumer segments and expand the portfolio.

Who isn't TheraBreath reaching yet, and when in their day could it show up?

03 CONCEPTS · OCCASIONS

Six moments in a day.

Six people worth designing for.

Strong-but-gentle seekers

Maximum freshness, zero burn.

FROST MINT

BIRCH MINT

Mint-fatigued adults

Something new that still feels clean.

COASTAL MINT

CARDAMOM MINT

MATCHA MINT

Self-care and beauty shoppers

A routine that feels like a treat.

ROSEWATER MINT

HIBISCUS MINT

LYCHEE MINT

Flavor-curious Gen Z

Discovery, novelty, something to share.

MANGO CHILI MINT

PISTACHIO MINT

WATERMELON MINT

Families and first-timers

Easy to love from the first rinse.

ORCHARD MINT

WATERMELON MINT

Sensitive and dry mouth, 50+

Comfort, hydration and gentleness.

COCONUT MINT

SAGE MINT

03 CREATE • 25 MINUTES

One world. One moment. One person.

PICK A WORLD

Where

- Frost Mint
- Coastal Mint
- Cardamom Mint
- Coconut Mint
- Rosewater Mint
- Orchard Mint
- Sage Mint
- Watermelon Mint
- Cedar Mint
- Matcha Mint
- Hibiscus Mint
- Lychee Mint
- Pistachio Mint
- Birch Mint
- Mango Chili Mint

PICK A MOMENT

When

- Wake-up
- After coffee
- After a meal
- Before a meeting
- Before going out
- After the gym
- Travel
- Wind-down

PICK A PERSON

Who

- Strong-but-gentle seekers
- Mint-fatigued adults
- Self-care and beauty shoppers
- Flavor-curious Gen Z
- Families and first-timers
- Sensitive and dry mouth, 50+

CONCEPT CARD

WORKING NAME

IT TASTES LIKE

WHY THIS PERSON, AT THIS MOMENT

HOW IT STAYS THERABREATH

HORIZON: NEAR • NEXT • LONG

● SMALL MIXED GROUPS

● 15 MINUTES TO BUILD

● 2 MINUTES EACH TO SHARE

Every card goes into the playbook.

OBJECTIVE 04 • PIPELINE

04 FROM IDEAS TO A PIPELINE.

Platforms, flavor directions and white space for growth across the franchise, near-term and long-term.

Three checks, three horizons, and an owner for every next step.

Three checks before the pipeline.

01

Does it fit the brand?

Could TheraBreath credibly own it: gentle, dentist-formulated, unmistakably clean?

02

Can we make it?

Does it hold up in sodium chlorite, alcohol-free, over the full shelf life?

03

Will people choose it?

Is it appealing, easy to understand, different, and something people buy again?

● CLEARS ALL THREE

Leads the near term. Anything else moves to Next or Long-term.

Now, next and later.

OUR STARTING READ

NEAR-TERM

New flavors for today's rinse

Directions that sit closest to today's base and shelf. The fastest path from bench to launch.

Frost

Orchard

Birch

NEXT

Platforms and new occasions

Grow a flavor into a family: a morning and night pair, a sensory line, a premium tier.

Coastal

Cardamom

Rosewater

Matcha

Hibiscus

LONG-TERM

Across the franchise

Carry the winners into other formats, such as toothpaste and lozenges, and toward new consumers.

Coconut

Sage

Watermelon

Cedar

Lychee

Pistachio

Mango Chili

Where flavor could travel.

01

Oral rinse

● FROST MINT

● COASTAL MINT

● ORCHARD MINT

02

Toothpaste

● CARDAMOM MINT

● BIRCH MINT

03

Mouth spray

● ROSEWATER MINT

● LYCHEE MINT

04

Lozenges and mints

● COCONUT MINT

● MATCHA MINT

05

Travel sizes

● FROST MINT

● HIBISCUS MINT

06

Kids

● WATERMELON MINT

● ORCHARD MINT

04 LET'S DISCUSS

What do we commit to today?

● 15 MINUTES

● WHOLE ROOM

01 Which three ideas lead the near term?

02 What's the first test for each: bench samples, stability, or a consumer screen?

03 Who owns it, and by when?

WHAT WE LEAVE WITH

The draft playbook.

TRENDS TO ACT ON01

PRIORITY TERRITORIES02

PLATFORM 1

PLATFORM 2

NEAR-TERM LEADS • OWNER • FIRST TEST03 • 04

LEAD	OWNER	FIRST TEST	BY
1
2
3

● BENCH SAMPLES IN BASE

● ACCELERATED STABILITY TEST

● SENSORY PANEL

● CONSUMER CONCEPT SCREEN

● NAMING & PACK SKETCH

× The Flavor Factory

● THANK YOU

Familiar enough to trust. Different enough to remember.

FROST MINT

COASTAL MINT

CARDAMOM MINT

COCONUT MINT

ROSEWATER MINT

ORCHARD MINT

● WE SEND THE WRITTEN PLAYBOOK

● BENCH SAMPLES FOR THE NEAR-TERM LEADS

● STABILITY IN THE REAL BASE