PRESENTER EDITION · FINAL · MONDAY, NOVEMBER 9, 2026 · DARWIN ROOM, PRINCETON

The Future of Freshness

Every slide exactly as the room will see it on the TV, with who presents it, the time and the speaker notes. 20 slides, plus "You told us" once the pre-brief answers are in. The live deck is at /host (right arrow or click to go on, F for full screen, N for notes).

WHO WE ARE · HOW WE WORK

Flavor is science and imagination.

SCIENCE

Volatile aromatics · Sensory perception · Cooling · Trigeminal sensations · Taste masking · Solubility · Stability · Oral-care systems

IMAGINATION

Culture · Emotion · Consumer expectation · Food and beverage trends · Hospitality · Beauty · Wellness · Travel · Ritual

Matt Wixted

DIRECTOR OF OPERATIONS

You asked to see our “creativity, technical expertise, and innovation capabilities.” By noon you will have seen each one at work.

10:01. Dan. Ross wrote that in July there was no chance to explore our innovation capabilities in depth. This is the short version; the morning is the long one. Flavor is science (how a flavor survives the bottle) and imagination (why someone wants it). Then the four of us, and what each one leads today.

DAN

FROM JULY TO TODAY

In July, you came to Norco.
Today is about growth.

Resiliency Innovation Operations Partnership

Growth

10:04. Thirty seconds. In July you came to Norco: resiliency, innovation, operations, partnership. Today is the fifth word: growth.

DAN

YOUR BRIEF

You asked for four things.

01 Signals. Identify emerging flavor, sensory and consumer trends shaping the future of oral care.

02 Territories. Explore new flavor territories and differentiated sensory experiences.

03 Concepts. Generate concepts that create new occasions, engage new consumers and expand the portfolio.

04 Pipeline. Develop a pipeline of platforms, flavor directions and white space for incremental growth.

"New flavor experiences that both strengthen our appeal with existing loyal users and create opportunities to attract new consumers to the franchise."

Ross Conroy, Church & Dwight Oral Care R&D, workshop invitation, September 18, 2026

10:05. Ross's four objectives, word for word, and his goal. The morning answers each one in turn.

DAN

THE MORNING

Two hours. Your four objectives, in order.

10:00	Welcome: who we are, and your four objectives		Dan
10:10	Your portfolio, the market, and what is changing	OBJECTIVE 01	Alex
10:25	Flavor School and four opportunity platforms	OBJECTIVE 02	Ryan
10:40	A blind tasting made in your bases	OBJECTIVE 02	Ryan
11:00	From samples to concepts: who, when and what role	OBJECTIVE 03	Ryan
11:20	White space and the pipeline: Now, Next, Later	OBJECTIVE 04	Alex
11:40	Our roadmap, owners and next steps, and a short film to send you to lunch		Dan

10:07. The morning on one slide. Point to the objective numbers: each block answers one of Ross's four, in order. Name who leads each part.

Appears here once the pre-brief answers are in (Ross sends the pre-brief on November 3): the consumer the room most wants to win, the moment TheraBreath is missing, and the flavors they would never approve, without names. The slides after it move up one.

10:08. Dan. Read the top consumer and the missing moment, then have some fun with the vetoes. No names on screen.

TheraBreath public product listings

10:10. Alex. The starting line. 25 flavors across six formats, and 21 of them are mint. TheraBreath has mastered mint. Ross asked for opportunities beyond the current portfolio: the next chapter is everything mint makes possible.

WHY FLAVOR, WHY NOW

86 of every 100 US households have not met TheraBreath yet.

65%

buy mouthwash

14%

buy TheraBreath

25.3%

share of US mouthwash, Q2 2026, up 4.5 points. Number 2.

Church & Dwight Q2 2026 earnings call, July 31, 2026

10:13. Alex. One line of context: 25.3% share of US mouthwash in Q2 2026, up 4.5 points, number 2. Then the gap: 86 of every 100 US households have not met TheraBreath yet. Pause. Flavor is how we introduce ourselves.

THE MARKET

The shelf is now a flavor shelf.

July 2025	Listerine. Watermelon Mint, alcohol-free, limited time, Target exclusive.
March 2026	Listerine. Citrus Mint with grapefruit and yuzu, alcohol-free, Target.
March 2026	TheraBreath. Eucalyptus Mint, Target exclusive.
June 2026	Listerine. An intensity range including Extra Mild, citing that 54% of Americans want a milder-tasting mouthwash.
2025 to 2026	Hismile. Toothpaste as entertainment: collaborations with Lucky Charms, Reese's, KFC and more.

Dentistry Today, July 18, 2025; Dentistry Today, March 12, 2026; DrBicuspid, March 3, 2026; Kenvue press release, June 2, 2026; Public press coverage, 2024 to 2026

10:15. Alex. Factual and neutral: the shelf is now a flavor shelf, one limited edition at a time. Then the turn: TheraBreath started ahead of this race (alcohol-free, dye-free, OXYD-8, a kids line on shelf). The question is what keeps it ahead.

WHAT IS CHANGING

Seven signals. Which three matter most?

01 Mild is the new mainstream.
Own intensity as a choice, not a compromise.

02 Warmth meets freshness.
A new adult flavor family that still finishes cool.

03 Fruit grows up.
Fruit-forward mints for adults, not candy.

04 Botanicals and rituals.
Flavor that marks a moment in the day.

05 Edible allure.
Indulgent openings are welcome only if the finish is unmistakably clean.

06 Sensation is the new proof of efficacy.
Design how TheraBreath feels, not just how it tastes.

07 New mouths, new needs.
Flavor built for altered taste and comfort is a platform, not a niche.

10:18 to 10:25. Alex. One line each; the proofs are in the pre-brief. Then ask the room: which three matter most for TheraBreath? Count hands and write the three down. Hand to Ryan.

FLAVOR SCHOOL

Most of what we call flavor is smell. The rest is feeling.

Taste

THE TONGUE

Sweet, sour, salty, bitter, umami.

Aroma

THE NOSE, BOTH WAYS

Sniffed in, and rising from the back of the mouth as you swallow.

Feel

THE TRIGEMINAL NERVE

Cooling, tingling, warming. What mint really is.

OXYD-8 is designed to be tough on odor-causing bacteria. That also makes it a demanding home for flavor. We don't just make it taste good. We make it survive.

10:25 to 10:33. Ryan. Most of what we call flavor is smell; the rest is feeling. Cooling has two jobs: the first impression and the last. OXYD-8 is tough on odor-causing bacteria, which makes it a demanding home for flavor. Public chemistry only, no formula details.

WHERE FLAVOR CAN GO

Four opportunity platforms.

01

Plant-Powered Freshness

Explore botanical freshness through citrus, herbs and florals, with a mint finish.

IN TODAY'S TASTING

02

Global Brightness

Familiar citrus opens a door to new flavor experiences.

FOR DISCUSSION

03

Modern Clean

Explore green, gentle freshness for people who find mouthwash too intense.

FOR DISCUSSION

04

Next-Generation Kids

Flavor makes the routine: playful discovery that invites curiosity.

IN TODAY'S TASTING

The shelf adds flavor one limited edition at a time. These start where TheraBreath is already ahead: alcohol-free, dye-free, built around OXYD-8.

10:33 to 10:40. Ryan. Four platforms. Two carry today's samples; two we discuss on screen. Keep sample names for the reveal. Close on the difference: competitors add flavor one limited edition at a time; these start where TheraBreath is already ahead.

OBJECTIVE 02 | RYAN

THE TASTING

Taste first. Names later.

A	B	C	D
Fresh Breath base	Fresh Breath base	Kids base	Kids base WRITE DOWN THE FRUITS YOU TASTE

Score each sample on your card: appeal, feels like TheraBreath, newness.

10:40 to 10:55. Ryan. Hand out the scorecards (print from /scorecard, one per person). A and B are in the Fresh Breath base, C and D in the Kids base. D is the Mystery Flavor, tasted last: write the fruit guesses before the reveal. Rinse and pause between samples. These are workshop reactions, not consumer validation.

OBJECTIVE 02 | RYAN

THE REVEAL

What you just tasted.

A

Blossom Mint

Grapefruit, Lavender, Rose, Spearmint, Wintergreen

FRESH BREATH BASE

B

Grove Mint

Spearmint, Peppermint, Wintergreen, Rosemary, Ylang Ylang, Eucalyptus

C

Berry Blast

Blueberry, Blackberry, Raspberry

KIDS BASE

D

Mystery Flavor

Apple, Grape, Cherry, Strawberry, Lemon

KIDS BASE

Development concepts made for this conversation: not products, claims or commercial formulations.

10:55 to 11:00. Ryan. For D, the Mystery Flavor, read the fruit guesses first, then the answer. Ask for one word for each sample. Then straight on to the concepts.

OBJECTIVE 03 | RYAN

FROM SAMPLES TO CONCEPTS

Five questions turn a direction into a concept.

Start from	A. Blossom Mint · B. Grove Mint · C. Berry Blast · D. Mystery Flavor · Plant-Powered Freshness · Global Brightness · Modern Clean · Next-Generation Kids
1 Who is it for?	The unconverted 86% · Mild-seekers · Gen Z self-care ritualists · Families and kids to tweens · 55+ longevity seekers · GLP-1 and dry mouth · Hispanic households · International consumers
2 When?	Wake-up · After coffee · After lunch · Afternoon meeting · After the gym · Before going out · Wind-down · On the go
3 What role?	Core Always-on mints · Expanders Permanent, beyond mint · Explorers Limited editions and drops · Specialists Need-states: dry mouth, night, kids
4 What format?	Rinse · Toothpaste · Sachet · Strip · Spray · Lozenge · Gum · Kids rinse
5 What does it grow?	Loyal users strengthen our appeal with existing loyal users · New consumers create opportunities to attract new consumers to the franchise · Both

11:00 to 11:05. Ryan. Start from the scorecards: which two or three samples or platforms earned a next round? Each one becomes a concept by answering five questions. The last one is Ross's goal: does it strengthen appeal with loyal users, attract new consumers, or both?

CONCEPTS

Three concepts. Built by this room.

CONCEPT 1	CONCEPT 2	CONCEPT 3
Name it	Name it	Name it
DIRECTION	DIRECTION	DIRECTION
FOR	FOR	FOR
WHEN	WHEN	WHEN
ROLE	ROLE	ROLE
FORMAT	FORMAT	FORMAT
GROWS	GROWS	GROWS

11:05 to 11:20. Ryan. Type each concept into a card as the room decides: a name, the direction, then the five answers (each box suggests the morning's own options). Three is the ceiling, not the target. The deck saves as you type.

WHITE SPACE · OUR READ, TO CHALLENGE

The day happens between the sinks.

11:20 to 11:28. Alex. The grid: eight moments of the day across, the consumers from the pre-brief down. Shaded is our read of where TheraBreath is today, there to be challenged: the sink, morning and night, and the dry mouth lozenge on the go. Everything else is open. Click a cell to mark where each concept lands. Then on to the board.

"...explore new possibilities and define a compelling innovation roadmap together."

Ross Conroy, Church & Dwight Oral Care R&D, workshop invitation, September 18, 2026

11:40 to 11:44. Dan. Read the roadmap back, column by column, with each owner. This is what Ross asked for at the end of his invitation.

DAN

WHAT HAPPENS NEXT

Three directions. Clear owners. Agreed next steps.

1 Three directions, three owners

Each with a TFF owner, a C&D reviewer, an intended base and a next sample action, agreed before we leave Princeton.

2 The Flavor Playbook in 8 business days

Today's scores, choices, owners and dates, written up and sent to everyone in the room.

3 New samples in your bases

The next round built in the TheraBreath bases you sent, reviewed together in January 2027.

11:44 to 11:48. Dan. The three next steps, with dates. Then: thank you for building this with us. The dates are still to be confirmed before November 9.

11:48. The send-off. Lights down, sound up. Two minutes twenty-six. Nobody speaks until the rival has landed; then Dan: see you at lunch.
